- Electronically-activated, one-inch forged steel latch bolt that is fully integrable with Kodiak doors and frames (no field retrofit required)
- Electronic lock mechanism with a maximum pull force of 160 lbs.
- Lock mechanism can be activated with the flip of a switch from anywhere in the store
- Secondary momentary switch with lock-and-unlock capability
- Latch bolt tested 500,000 cycles
- 12-month component warranty and a 12-month labor warranty

“Our new Panic Bar option gives you peace of mind that your beer caves are better protected,” said Uri Rainisch, senior product manager for Anthony. “Its subtle features make it discreet to your shoppers, but gives you that extra security when you need it.”

The Panic Bar option is only available for new door/frame sales, standard swing only, and is in lieu of standard factory-installed industrial-grade key cylinder lock that already comes with every Kodiak door.

“The Panic Bar option reflects our commitment to being the leaders in dependable and energy-efficient doors for our customers,” Rainisch said. “After all, no other manufacturer of DOE-listed walk-in cooler doors offers a Panic Bar option like this.”
