

Activate · Transact · Experience

Stuzo Certifies as Disability-Owned Business Enterprise

PHILADELPHIA, PA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 2020 — Stuzo, the leading provider of intelligent 1:1 loyalty, contactless commerce, and modern digital storefront technology for everyday spend retailers, announced today that it has become certified as a Disability-Owned Business Enterprise (DOBE®).

Stuzo has met DOBE's rigorous requirements for certification, inclusive of which, Stuzo's Founder & CEO being legally blind and a majority shareholder.

According to the Disability Equality Index<sup>SM</sup> (DEI), of over 11 million members of the US workforce represented by companies taking part in the 2020 DEI, 5.5% identify as having a disability.

“As a legally blind entrepreneur, it is important to me personally and to our company that those with disabilities or other disadvantages know Stuzo welcomes your interest in joining our fast-growing organization,” said Gunter Pfau, Founder & CEO, Stuzo. “Stuzo is broadly committed to diversity and inclusiveness in our workforce.”

Stuzo's certification from Disability:IN® supports organizations Stuzo partners with, that are focused on supplier diversity and inclusion.

For more information on Stuzo's DOBE certification, contact Stuzo at: press@stuzo.com. For more information on career opportunities at Stuzo, visit www.stuzo.com/careers.

* * *

Click here to download the image asset from this press release.

About Stuzo and Open Commerce®

Stuzo helps Everyday Spend Retailers Know and Activate™ more customers and data in real-time, leading to more visits, more gallons, and bigger baskets. Stuzo's Open Commerce product suite consists of: Activate for Intelligent 1:1 Loyalty, Transact for Contactless Commerce, and Experience for Cross-Channel Digital Storefronts. Stuzo's managed software services empower retailers to operationalize programs powered by Open Commerce and bring to market custom loyalty, commerce, and mobile storefront solutions.