NACS Supplier Board Nominating Committee

Re: Recommendation Letter

The NACS supplier community is always on the lookout for members that have vested interests in the Convenience industry, but also have active leaders that have influence and passion for the business. One such active and passionate leader is Josh Halpern of Anheuser-Busch. For the past several years, Josh has managed and grown Anheuser-Busch's on trade business by direct contribution and involvement with all significant on premise retail trade associations. Josh's new assignment to his company's largest trade channel provides a unique opportunity for NACS. Josh's ability to support and invest in knowledge, connections, and advocacy will pay incremental dividends for his company, the supplier community, and most importantly, the retail membership of NACS.

Josh is carrying the C Store banner inside and outside of Anheuser-Busch in as strong a fashion as has been seen in recent years and he is worthy of your consideration for a role with NACS Supplier Board.

Sincerely,
