Are you getting the most from your employees? Gradifi can help.

Today, a bachelor’s or advanced degree is the price of admission for employment, however the skyrocketing cost of higher education is putting that price out of reach. People are turning to debt to fund education at increasingly large levels, at the expense of delaying their first home purchase, saving for retirement, and feeling significant stress. Employers pay for that stress in lost productivity and higher turnover.

Gradifi offers solutions that address your employees most pressing financial needs and bring stability to your workforce.

College SaveUp
Contribute to your employees’ 529 college savings plans and ease the stress of paying for the rising cost of their children’s education.
